DAY AND COMPANY HAVEN'T REFUSED

It Is Believed by Everyone in the City Hall That They Will Take the Bonds.

The stories which have been circulated recently, to the effect that R. L. Day & Co., of Boston, would probably refuse to take the big $273,000 issue of sewer bonds, are absolutely without

Day & Co. have never intimated that they would refuse to take the bonds. They have, of course, been very careful in securing all necessary data and have raised a few objections which appear to be trivial, but they have never suggested that they would not take the bonds, nor does anyone in city hall believe for a moment that they will re-

Their latest contention is that the election at which the issue of the bonds was authorized was not properly conducted. They contend that the ballots were not properly marked and that they were not deposited in the proper hallot boxes.

City Solicitor Vosburg has looked into this matter and has been informed by C. F. Wagner, formerly chief clerk in the county commissioners' office, that the ballots were the same as those used in every other such election in the history of the city and that the election was conducted in the same manner as every such election heretofore. He has so informed the company.

The bonds are already printed and signed and have been for the past two weeks. They are now lying in the safe in City Clerk Lavelle's office, and a very precious package they make, being just as "good as gold" to whoever might have them in his possession. It is expected that they will be taken by the company within the next few days, at least that's what City Clerk Lavelle and City Solicitor Vosburg be-

It is understood that when another bond issue is authorized all bidders will be obliged to secure all necessary data and information for themselves before they put in a bid. This will save a vast deal of trouble on the part of the various city officials who, since the offer of Day & Co. has been accepted, have been obliged to spend much valuable time in looking up various mat ters. The controller has been obliged to prepare two debt statements, some detail in the first one prepared not satisfying the Messrs. Day & Co.

SUIT OF THE DEAN HEIRS AGAINST WINTON ESTATE.

Judge H. M. Edwards Begins the Trial of an Important Phase of the Long-Drawn-Out Litigation Over the Griffin Coal Tract-Demurrer Overruled in the Case of Davis Against the First Welsh Baptist Church-Non-Suit Stands in Page Case-Other Court Matters.

Judge Edwards yesterday entered upon the trial of another phase of the long-drawn-out litigation over the Griffin coal tract in the Second ward. This time the suit is between A. D. Dean, trustee for the heirs of Polly Dean, wife of Isaac Dean, and for Isaac Dean, plaintiff, and the executors of W. W. Winton and Catherine Winton, deceased, defendants.

The action is to secure an account ing for $200,000 in coal royalties which the fifty-acre tract has earned during the past twenty-eight years. The land was purchased from the Griffin estate in 1871 by W. W. Winton. The plaintiff alleges it was bought by Winton for himself (Winton) and Thomas Livy, Joseph Church and Isaac Dean, each to have a one-fourth interest. The defense alleges that in October, 1871. Winton made a lease with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company for all the coal and this has been construed by the supreme court, in another phase of the litgation, to be a sale of all the coal.

The plaintiff proves that a trust was declared by W. W. Winton and wife, May 1, 1872, to the effect that the property was held by them for themselves and Livy, Church and Dean. This trust, however, bears a date which is ten months subsequent to the date of the purchase from Griffin and six months subsequent to the date on which the coal was sold to the Delaware. Lackawanna and Western company. Thus, the defense maintains, the trust, in the absence of anything showing the contrary, affects only what property Winton possessed at the time it was declared, or simply the surface lands.

There is also a dispute as to what part of the surface the Dean people are entitled to. In 1877, it appears. Joseph Church was sold out at sheriff's sale and his one-fourth interest in the tract—whatever that might be—was bought in by W. W. Winton, The Church heirs tried to recover this recently on the contention that Winton, having been trustee for Church, could only make the purchase as trustee and that the Wintons only held the Church interest as trustees for the Churches. The supreme court, however, decided the contrary, ruling that Winton bought the interest free from all equities.

The Deans allege that they have a half share in this same Church interest. They claim that four days after the sheriff's sale and before the leed was made, Isaac Dean and W. W. Winton reached an agreèment whereby each was to share alike in the profits of the Church one-fourth. This igreement, it is alleged, was based on debted to both Dean and Winton and ter in the said conference." the Second National bank, of which Dean and Winton were the chief owners, and that Dean refrained from Winton was to buy the property for he mutual benefit of both of them and the bank. This is denied by the Church Must Answer.

Through Judge Archbaid, yesterday, court discharged the rule to take off the non-suit in the case of C. W. Pagagainst the New York and Scranton Coal company.

The plaintiff sued for the death of his miner son, Vernie Page, who was killed at the company's breaker in Blakely, Oct. 28, 1898, by being caught by a revolving shaft and whirled to his death. A non-suit was granted on the ground of contributory negli-gence, and the failure of the plain iff to show negligence by the defendant. A rule was made to show why the non-suit should not be stricken off. The matter was heard at argument court and yesterday the decision was handed down in the following:

The plaintiff's son at the time of the acciden was out of his place, engaged in playing with another boy, and his death was the immediate outcome of this circumstance.

The fact that the end of the shaft was not guarded as it might be was of no moment, therefore. The company was not bound to provide safe places or appliances for employes cept when engaged in the line of their employ-

In the case of Eben P. Davis, who seeks to have equity court compel the First Welsh Baptist church, of West Scranton, to reinstate him in membership, court yesterday handed down an opinion over-ruling the demurrer to the plaintiff's bill, filed by the church authorities, and gave the defense twenty days in which to make answer. The opinion follows:

Taking the bill as it stands, we think i presents a case for the court and calls for an answer from the defendants. THREE REPUBLICAN MEETINGS

Rousing Demonstrations in Athletic. Kolaski's and Workingman's Halls Attended by Large and Enthusiastic Crowds of Citizens-Consul General Du Bois Urges the Election of Congressman Connell and Bitterly Ararigns Independent Republican Candidate-Others Who Made Stirring Addresses.

The campaign was brought to a mos auspicious close last night in South Scranton, where three Republican mass meetings were held, which rivalled in enthusiasm any of the meetings held during the past month in any part of the county.

The large numbers in attendance at hese meetings was most remarkable, inasmuch as they were all held in practically the same district and in halls within a few blocks of each other. The largest meeting was the one conducted in Athletic hall, where the issues of the campaign were splendidly presented by Consul General James T. DuRois, of Switzerland: Deputy Attorney General Frederick Fleitz and A. J. Colborn, jr., to an audience which numbered close to 700 persons. Athletic hall is in the Eleventh ward, and accordingly one of the most stalwart Republicans in that part of the city acted as chairman, Select Councilman John Schneider. General DuBois gave a brief address, brimful of witty anecdotes and caustic comment on the false issues raised by Mr. Bryan in this campaign. Referring to the congresional fight, he said: A PLAIN QUESTION.

"I desire to ask you a plain question: What would be your opinion, and what would probably be the opinion of every fair-minded person in the United States of a man who had entered any kind of a contest and was beaten, if he turned against his successful rival and attempted by every means in his power to detract and prevent his success? "Why, you know that even a defeated prize fighter shakes hands with his successful openent and frankly acknowledges his own defeat. The truth is the American voters have decided time and again and always in the most emphatic manner not to tolerate any insurgent candidate who after having been defeated at the primaries of his own political organization ets himself up as an independent canlidate and attempts to encompass the defeat of his successful opponent in be party fight.

"William Connell was emphatically uccessful at the primaries. He is our regular party nominee and the eart of the loyal Republican party of the Lackawanna district bearts in sympathy with him and he will win a splendid triumph to-morrow at the olls. My friends, he richly deserves t, for he has been tried in the counils of public life and bas been found sterling and sound on all of the great mestions of the day. "He has loyally supported the presient from the beginning of the gold standard fight down to the Philippine emergency. He has successfully with stood the closest search and severest rials of congressional life. He has aiways labored for the public good with untiring industry as every honesthearted citizen of this community will attest. He has always in all hi lews and actions both in private and in public life held the banner of selfespect high as hope's great throbbing tar above the darkness of the dead, and with his friends, his country and his own reputation he has kept a perfect faith, and gentlemen, to-morrow you will elect him and you will elect him by such 'a magnificent majority that no man wearing the badge of Republicanism will ever attempt again another insurgert movement in this great Lackawanna district against a regular party nominee until a virgin bears n child. "In electing him you will gratify President McKinley, whose trusted friend and counsellor William Connell has always been. In electing him you will not only do this splended thing but you will help to elect all of the other excellent candidates on your local ticket, and I don't know how you can better serve your country and your county than by doing just this thing. PHILIPPINE QUESTION. A. J. Colborn, Jr., referred particularly to the Philippine question and roused the audience to a high pitch of excitement when he declared that Old Glory was in those islands to stay and would "never, no, never, be hauled down." Deputy Attorney General Fleitz pointed out that the real issue in this campaign is the same issue which was under consideration four years ago, free silver and it attendant national dishonor. He referred to the fact that in 1896 the Eleventh ward went for a Repub Bryan under an avalanche. He expressed the hope that the process would be repeated this year in even more thorough manner. Another enthusiastic meeting was the one conducted in Kolaski's hall, at the corner of Elm street and Pittston avenue. Here there was a large sprinkling of Polish voters in attendance and an address on the vital is sues of the campaign was made by Editor Daugel of the Straz.

His remarks were received with much applause and the sentiments he gave utterance to appeared to meet with 'the approval of his listeners. Hon. S. S. Vreeland, of New Jersey, gave one of his rousing addresses and Mayor Moir presented the names of the members of the county ticket and urged the election of them all. "Vote the straight Republican ticket," said he. "Don't cut it. It contains the names of only good men and true! The third meeting was held in Workingman's hall, on Alder street, only a little over a block from Athletic hall and yet it was attended by a goodsized crowd, which was not lacking in applause. The chairman was Henry Moore and the speakers were Hon. John R. Farr, Attorney John M. Harris and Henry George.
